Believed Germany Will Try to Prevent Break.

EXPECT TO ASK ARBITRATION

Germany, It is Thought, Wili Aban-Only if England Will Abandon its Policy of "Starvation."

Washington, May 17.-If Berlin accepts the views held by influential Washington. Germans in this country it is certain that the German government's reply to President Wilson's note about the submarine operations will be conclliatory and persunsive in tone, and will contain several suggestions calculated from the German point of Makes Fortune Buying Woolvlew to avert all danger of n brenk between the imperlal government and the United States.

Germans here refuse to see in the president's note nny enstigation of the German government at which they should take offense, and are devoting themselves entirely to formulating such arguments us can he brought to bear in support of the German suhmarine operations, which resulted in the Lusitania disaster, in way which they hope likely to appeal to the American public mind. that is, they are refusing to indulge themselves in the temptation to get angry ahout the matter, and instead are endeavoring to present ways la which they hope it can be smoothed

The views held in Berlin regarding the United States's position on the submarine operations are not definitely known here, but certainly the most interesting phase of the situation as it exists in Washington is the effort being made in German quarters to bring about an entirely amicable adjustment.

These activities are regarded here as evidence that Germans ln this country, at least, recognize the serious possibilities of the situation, and are not willing that the two governments should break with each other if there is any way to prevent it. Evidences of this attitude are found n the self-imposed official silence of the German amhassador, the decision of Dr. Dernburg to eliminate himself from the situation, and most Important, the private spreading of the German view in such quarters as are regarded ne likely to afford the easlest channel of communication to that the German emhassy has even gone to the length of advising the German-American press in this country to he moderate in its discussion of the submarine views. The German amhassador denies that any such instructions have been issued by the emhassy, but nevertheless there is every reason to expect that the attitude of the embassy in this regard will soon enough find its reflection in the German-American newspapers. From the discussions that have been going forward here, it now appears clear, the main idea of Germans in this country le that the Berlin government should take care of the Lusitania matter by proposing arhitration, and then dispose of the genersi question of submarine operations by requiring the United States to renew its efforts to get Great Ilritain to abandon ite "etarvation" policy in return for an abandonment of the German submarine program. If they accomplish this they probably would have accomplished all they expected from their submarine program, any country has been concentrated on these questions for nearly a week now and it may be said positively that their views already have been communicated to Berlin in one way or another. For this reason there is a disposition here to accord some importance to them, for it is argued that unless the German government don Submarine Attacks on Shipping actually wishes a break with the Untted States it will accept the advice of Germane who are closely in touch with American public opinion and the attitude of the administration in

BRITISH GAIN A BIG VICTORY

Report the Capture of German Breastworks.

MOVE FORWARD A FULL MILE

Claim the Engagement Is Still Under Way and That the British Holds the Upper Hand-General French Reports.

London, May 17.—Another drive into the German lines has begun by the ilritish army in order to straighten the ailied front sonthward from Neuve Chapeile, An official statement given out by the war office contains a dispatch from General French telling of this new offensive-and Its entire success is in the prefiminary Stages.

The German front has been shattered along the greater part of a twomile line between Richebourg L'Avoue and Festubert by a combined artiilery and infantry assault of the British tirst army. Two attacks were made, one southward from Richebourg i. Avone, and the other due east and just to the north of Festubert, in the former two successive attacks German breastworks were carried on a reach of eight hundred yards, and in the latter 1,200 yards of trenches were taken first, then the galn was extended 600 yards to the south, and the British troops dashed irresistibly forward for a full mile.

The tighting began when a strong force moved out from Richehourg L'Avone and feil upon the Germans unexpectedly, spiendidly supported by the artillery. This action was successful and while the attention of the Gennans still was engaged in that region, another detachment was sent against the position to the south. The engagement still is under way and the British hold the apper hand, according to General French, who telegraphed as follows:

"Our first army made a successfui attack between Richebourg L'Avoue and Festibert, breaking the ilne over the greater part of n two-mile front. The attack commenced at midnight south of Richsbourg L'Avoue, where TRANSYLVANIA NOT DOCKED they carried two successive lines of German breastworks on a front of 800 yards.

"A mlle further south we made another attack at dawn and earried 1,200 yards of the German front line trenches. Thence we pushed on rapldly, extending our snecess six hundred yards further south by bomb throwing operations. "Here we crossed the Festiliert-Quinque road and udvanced nearly a mile into the German line. The fighthis continues in our favor.

The necessity of straightening out the ullied lines north of Arras has resulted in some remarkable work by both French and British soldiers. Effect of Calomel.

LIV-VER-LAX is one of the most important medical discoveries of recent years. For a iong time medical experts, realizing the harmful effects of calomel, have been striving to find a liver cleanser that would be just as effeetive as caiomei, and yet be absolutely harmiess in its action. Recently this remedy was actually put forth by L. K.

Grigsby, in his LIV-VER-LAX. LIV-VER-LAX is a harmless vegetable compound, designed solely for the Howard D., who have been here with treatment of liver complaints. The imrelatives for the past week, returned to mediate favor it has met with in thousands of homes is proof positive of ite reai value.

If you feel worn out, tongue coated. and skin sailow, don't delay until it becomes dangerous, nip the trouble in the bud with LIV-VER-LAX. Insist on the genuine, bearing the signature and iikeness of L. K. Grigsby, which is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For saie by Kincheice's l'harmacy, Hardinsburg, Ky.

PICNIC LUNCHES.

During the coming summer delightful ontings will be held in every community in the way of fishing parties, boat trips. Sunday Should be Given a Trial by Evschool pienics and automobile parties. One of the features of these outings are the bountiful lunches, in fact, a great waste of food is often seen and might be guarded by a little planning on the part of those who prepare the baskets. If those who arrange the parties would ask certain ones to make a certain number of sandwiches. cakes and the needed portions to make an attractive menn, an enormous waste of material could be avoided. Thoughtlessly people will prepare huge quantities of expensive food for such occasions, then never think of making anything e-pecially for the sick, poor and needy. We hand out whatever we have to tramps on cold winter days, then in the hot summer spend sometime in preparing food for picnies, where there is usually so much that the guests leave on their plates as umeh as they have caten. Correct table manners teach. that a person should never take more than they can eat and to leave pen's description, and no brush can anything on the plate is a poor compliment to the hostess. Food that is prepared with elegance bespeaks of hospitality and the happiest social hours are spent in dining together. Women should take pride in preparing hanches for picnics, with a few inquiries and consulting each other, sufficiently filled baskets may be had without waste und extravagance.

CHILDREN AND POLITICS.

"I don't know whether I am for prohibition or not, but my cultivation. Makes a fine bay it is father is," said an eleven year old child last Friday. "I never see said, and a wonderful ferterlizer if anyone drunk, except some old men on the streets." Then the one turned under after well matured. You to whom she was speaking asked her if she would be for prohibition can hardly use a cheaper ferterlizer. if her father was one of those men. The child changed immediately it sells for about $6.00 and a bushel and could not bear the thought of seeing her father drunk. The an acre to look on as magnificient 20 child had got politics mixed with principles and had even been in- acre fleid as I saw, and was into at fluenced away from her own father's belief. Principles, not politics, Adairville, Ky. should be taught children. They should be taught to stand for right principles, because they make right a party. If this were true of the grown-up children of today, they would not be deserting the things see in dubbing about over the highthat are best for the people, even though they perhaps endanger a party. If men would think more of the happiness of men and women, than so much about their respective political parties, we would have State-Wide prohibition and greatest of all National prohibition.

HITCHING SHEDS NEEDED.

Clean-up days have been a great success in Hardinsburg, Irvington and Cloverport and other towns during the last three weeks. The day has brought about better conditions in Cloverport and the town is not only looking forward to many improvements, but is undertaking them. What every town and business section of any community needs, is a hitching shed. The country stores as well as those in larger towns should not allow hitching in front of them and the customers should not ask it. Hitching sheds keep the streets clean, knots and crimps out of their noodles eliminate flies which bring to us typhoid and muluria germs, and pro- by reading and experimenting and getteet the horses from the hot sun. TWO EX-PRESIDENTS.

BETTER TIMES FOR ALL.

"I left home two weeks ago and never took as many orders in my twenty-five years of travel for the same length of time," writes John T. Ditto, traveling salesman in Kentucky, Illinois and Tennessee. "I never saw such a rully and brightness come over a country in my life as the rains have brought. It has not only cheered up the grass, but it has gladdened the hearts of mankind. Three years of drought, short crops, wars and rumors of wars, pretty hard things to bat against. Thank God, just at present the horizon is brightening for the Woodrow Wilson administration." Mr. Ditto's letter sounds the key-note of the day and there are better times in sight for allthe farmers and the rest of us.

FROHMAN'S ANSWER TO DEATH.

"Why fear death! It is the most beautiful adventure in life." These were the last words of Charles Frohman. They have been published in hundred of papers, showing how humanity grasps at such a hope in the world beyond If men have hope, faith and trust in eternity little is ever said about it, instead the amount of money and property he leaves is always stated in the lines following his death and birth notice. The way this Lusitania victim answered death has created a new interest, a wonderful hope in the hearts of men. Frohman's last words are greater than any amount of money he could have left to humanity.

Closing the stores early comes next. We hope to see the day Try a Want Ad. Today when the country stores will close every Saturday afternoon, at least, to give the faithful clerks a rest and time to get ready for Sunday. A great deal of Sabbath breaking comes from the excuse that people have to work all the week and Sunday is their only day for rectea; tion. People should not put off so much shopping until Saturday. It tires everybody.

ery Farmer. Writes John T. Crimson.

Editor Breckenridge News:

it has been my great pleasure in last few days, through Todd and Logan counties, Kentucky, to see many patches and fields of crimson clover. Not anything new in the clover line, but looks to be a farmer's friend in helping to redeem the worn lands. The fleids are now in full bioom. The beauty of its deep crimson, is beyond possibly paint, so heantiful a color as t carries, that God has given It. No paint or brush by human hands give to us the many beauties of nature that we can see each day in the country. Yet there are doubting Thomases of an

WIPING OUT MALARIA IN PANAMA CANAL ZONE

American Sanitary Officers Meeting With Great Success.

Washington.-The report of the department of health of the Panama caual for the last calendar year shows that the American sanitary officers on the canal zone are meeting with remarkable success in combating ma-

Those other diseases so likely to vis-It white men in tropleal climates, dysentery and typhold fever, are also being coped with successfully. The report shows that no deaths occurred among Americans in the canal zone lu the year 1914 from malarla, dysentery or typhold fever. Yellow fever, as is well kuown, lms long since been lmnisbed from the canal zone by the scientific efficacy and thoroughness of the methods of the American sunitary officials.

The fact is that malaria, not only among the Americans in the canal reglon, but among the entire population there, has been reduced to a lower noint than ever before. In this connection, it appears, apart from the report for the year 1914, that the malarial outbreaks among employees in the canal zone outside of Cristobal and Toro l'oint are now at the lowest

The pneumonla death rate increased considerably owing to prevalence of measles among the black employees and the avercrowded conditions in which the people live in Panama. The tive disenses causing the highest number of deaths in their order are pneumonla, tuberculosis, nephritis, organic liseases of the heart and malaria,

In the latter half of 1914 a periodic physical examination was made of all food handlers in the kitchens, mess rooms and commissaries of the l'antma canal with the result that one typhold currier and a number of cases of contaglous diseases were detected and eliminated. This doubtless prevented much disease among employees.

In Colon and Panama the figures show a high infaut mortality, due to ignorance and indifference on the part

The Million Dollar Mystery

CHAPTER XXII.

A Night of Adventure,

The federal government agreed to say nothing, to but no obstacles in the way of the Russian agent provided be could abduct his trio without serious. ly clashing with the New York police authorities It was a recognized fact that the local police force wanted the newspaper glory which weuld attend the crushing of the Black Hundred. It would be an exploit But their glory was ali: nor did Servan take his trio back with him to Russia.

Many strange things happened that night, the night of the lenal ndven-

Florence sat in h r recen reading. The book was "Ollver Twist," not the pleasantest sort of book to rend under the existing circumstances Severnt times-she had reached the place where Fagla overheard Nancy's confession-she functed she heard doors closing softly, but credited it to her Imagination. Poor Nancy, who wanted to be good but dld not find time to be! Florence possessed a habit familliar to most of us: the need of auples or candy when we are reading. So she rang the bell for her maid. Intending to ask her to bring up some She turned to her reading, presently to break off and strike the bell ngaln. Where was that maid? She walted perhaps live minutes, then faid down the book and began to Investi-

There was not a servant to be found In the entire house! What in the world could that mean? Used as she was to heartrending suspense, she was none the less territied. Something had raken the servants from the house. From whence was the danger to come this time? Where was Jones? Why did he not return as he had promised? It was long past the honr when he suid he would be back.

She went into the library and picked up the rejephone. She was told that Mr. Norton was out on an assignment, but that he would be notified the moment he returned. She opened a drawer in the desk. She touched the automatic, but did not take it up. She left the drawer open, however.

Earlier, at the newspaper office that night, Jim went into the managing ed-Itor's office and laid a bulky manuscript on that gentleman's desk.

"Is this it?" "It is, ' said Jim.

"You have captured them?"

"No; but there is a net about them from which not one shall escape. There's the story of my adventures, of the adventures of Miss Hargreave and the butler. Jones. You'll thid it exciting enough. You might just as well send it up to the composing room. At midnight I'll telephone the introduction. It's a scoop. Don't worry about

The editor riffled the pages.

"A hundred and twelve pages, 300 words to the page; man it's n novel!" "It'li read like one."

"Sit down for a moment and let me skim through the first story.

At the end of ten minutes the editor laid down the copy. He opened a drawer and took out two envelopes. The blue one he tore up and dropped luto the waste basket Norton understood and smiled They had meant to discharge him if he feil down. The other envelope was a fat one. "Open it," said the editor, smiling a little to himself.

This envelope contained a check for $2,500, two round-trip lirst-class tickets to Liverpool, together with innumerable continental tickets such as aro issued to tourists.

"Why two?" asked Jim, innocently. "Forget it, my boy, forget It. You ought to know that in this office we don't employ blind men. The whole staff is on. There you are, a fat check and three months' vacation. Go and get married; and if you return before the three months are up I'll fire you myself on general principles."

Jim laughed happily and the two men shook hands. Then Jim went forth to complete the big assignment. Five minutes later Florence called him up to learn that he had gone.

What should she do? Jones had told her to stay in the house and not to leave it. But where was he? Why did he not come? What was the meaning of 'his desertion by the servants? She wandered about aimlessly, looking out of windows, imagining forms in the shadows. Her Imagination had not deceived her; she had heard doors close softly.

"Susun, Susan!" she murmured; but Susan was in the hospital.

"Oliver Twist!" What had possessed her to start reading that old talo again? She should have read something of a light and joyous character. After half an hour's wandering about the lonely house she returned to the library, feeling that she would he safer where both telephone and revolver were.

And while she eat waiting for she knew not what, her swiftly beating heart sending the blood into her throat so that it almost suffocated her, a man turned into the street and walked the hall.

noiselessly toward the Hargreave place. He passed a man leaning against a lamppost, but he never turned to look at him.

Thie man, however, threw away his cigar and hot-footed it to the nearest pay station. He knew in his soul that he had just seen the man for whom they had been hunting all these weary but strenuous weeks-Stnniey Hargrenve in the flesh! Half an hour nfter his telephone message the chief of the Black Hundred and many lesser lights were on their way to the house of mystery. Ilnd they but known!

Now, the man who had created this tremendous ngitation went serenely on. He proceeded directly and fearlessly to the front door, produced n He passed latclikey and entered. through the half and reception room to the library and paused on the threshold dramatically. Florence stepped back with a sharp cry of olerm. She had heard the hali door open and close and had taken it for granted that Jones had entered.

There was a tableau of short dura-

"Don't you know me?" asked the stranger in a singularly pleasant voice. Florence had been imposed upon too many times. She shook her head deflantly, though her knees shook so that she was certain that the least touch would send her over.

"I am your father, child!" Plorence slipped unsteadly behind the desk and seized the revolver which lay in the drawer. The man by the curtains smiled sadly. It was a smile that caused Fiorenco to waver a bit. Still she extended her arm. "You do not believe me?" said the man, advancing slowly. "No. I have been deceived too many times, sir. Siay where you are. You will wait here till my butler returns. Oh, if I were only sure!" she burst ont suddenly and passionately. "What proof have you that you are what you

He came toward her, holding out his hands. "This, that you cannot shoot Ah, the damnable wretches! me. What have they done to you, my child, to make you suspicious of every one? How I have watched over you in the street! i will teil you what only Jones and the reporter know, that the aviator died, that I alone was rescued, that I gave Norton the five thousand; that I watched the windows of the Russian woman, and overheard nearly evry plot that was hatched in the counell chamber of the Black Hundred; that I was shot in the arm while crossing the lawn one night. And now we have the scoundrels just where we want them. They will be in this house for me within half an hour, and not one of them will leave it in freedom. 1 am your father, Florence 1 am the lanely father who has spent the best years of his life away from you in order to secure your safety. Can't you feel the truth of all thls?"

"No, no! Piease do not approach any nearer; stay where you are!" At that moment the telephone rang.

With the revolver still leveled she picked up the receiver.

"Hello, hello! Who is it? Oh, Jlm, Jim, come at once! I am holding at bay n man who snys he is my father. Hold him where he is, you say? All right, I will. Come quick!" "Jim!" murmured the man, still advancing. He must have that revolver. The poor child might spoil the whole "So what Jones tells me is true: that you are going to marry this reporter chap?"

She did not answer.

With or without my consent?" If only he would drop that fearless sneie! she thought. "With or without anybody's consent," she sald.

What in the world can I say to you to convince you?" he cried. "The trap Is set; but If Braine and his men come and find us like this, good heaven, child, we are both iost! Come, come!"

"Stay where you are!" At that moment she heard a sould at the door, Her gaze roved; and it was enough for the man. He reached out and caught her arm. She tried to tear herseif loose. 'My child, in God's name, listen to reason! They are entering the hall and they will have us both." Suddenly Florence knew. She could not have told you why; but there was an appeal in the man's voice that went to her heart. "You are my father!"

"Yes, yes! But you've found it out just a trille too late, my dear. Quick; this side of the desk!" Braine and his men dashed into the library. Olga entered jelsurely.

"Both of them!" yelled Braine ex-"Both of them together; what luck!"

There was a sharp, fierce struggle; and when it came to an end Hargreave was trussed to a chnir.

"Ah, so we meet again, Hargreave! said Braine. Hargrenve shrugged. What he wanted was time. "A million! We have you. Where your eyes." "Father, forgive me!"

"I understand, my child." "Where is it?" Braine selzed Florence by the wrist and swung her toward him. "Don't tell him, father; don't mind me," said the girl bravely. Braine, smiling his old evil smile, drew the girl close. It was the last thine he ever touched her.

"Look!" screamed Olga. Every one turned, to see Jones' face peering between the curtains. There Across the lawn the two sped, with an exchange of shots which emptled both automatics but did no damage. Braine headed for his auto. He jumped in, only to be hauled out again by the furious reporter. A hand-to-hand fight foliowed; and the clean life of the reporter told.

"There, my angelic friend, I believe that the game is up. There is one shot left in this nutomatic. If you make any attempt to escape. I'll let you have it: not to kill but to disable. You and your precious countess will sall tomorrow morning for the Baltic, and from there you will go to the lead mines." He dragged his prisoner toward the house.

Of Course You Are Going to See the Exposition

The World in Epitome Shown by Displays in the Vast Exhibit Palaces at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Today the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco is being widely exploited throughout the world by the millions of sightseers who have visited the exposition since its opening on February 20th last as the most beautiful, comprehensive and lateresting universal exposition that the world has ever known. The wonderful exhibit palaces house the treasures of the earth, while the grounds, plaated to millions of rare bulbs, are a gorgeous mass of color and fragrance. To the visitor entering the gates for the first time, either by night or day, the scene is certain to hold the newcomer spellbound, as the vast panorama unfolds bit by bit before the gaze and the eye wanders from one beauty spot to another in an endless chain ot amszing surprises. Entering the main gate at Scott street, for instance, the visitor sees the great Fountain of Energy directly before him its glant sprays sparkling and flashing in the light of the warm California sun by day, or assuming the appearance of masses of flowing fiames by night under the powerful beams of the great batteries of senrchilghts trained upon this work ot art. As the spell is lifted the eye falls upon the Tower of Jewels, the great center piece of the exposition, and again attention is arrested until the eye has conquered the dlzzy helghts of this gem-studded tower, every eorniee and figure sending forth its share of dazzling lights,

The world's advance in ail branches of art, science and ladustry is amazingly portrayed in the exhibits. Among the electrical exhibits, for example, is the Audion amplifier, invented by Lee De Forest. Through this invention the visitor in the Liberal Arts palace is chahled to converse over the long distance telephone with his relatives at the farthest section of the Atlantic coast and may hear the voice of the spenker in grenter volume than was actually given into the transmitting telephone. The latensity of the sound is increased by passing through heat waves. Today it is possible for an orator in New York city to address through the telephone a large audience at San Francisco, the sound being increased so that it is of power great enough to fill a large hall. This single advance is the development of the telephone is paralleled in hundreds of other lines. The railroads have made low round trip rates and ample and reasonable accommodations are to be had in San Francisco and the adjoining eitles

ARTS AND CRAFTS OF 10,000 YEARS AGO SHOWN IN THE TEHUANTEPEC VILLAGE AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

The Tehuantepec village on the Zoae at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is a bit of the oldest elvilization of the world brought to San Francisco from the country of the Aztee ruins in Central America. Beautiful earpet weaving is shown, together with only eutifug, clay and wax modeling, ancient dancing and singing, pottery making and coloring and other arts characteristic of the people. A typical garden is open to the visitor in the concession in which is to be seen the landscape art of this people.

UNCLE SAM SHOWN ON THE ZONE.

THIS IS "MR. SOA KUM."

Visitors to the Zone at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition fiad much to amuse them by a visit to "Soa Kum" and hundreds of other interesting concessions which line the Zone's broad avenue for a mile. In "Soa Kum" one tries to hit all kinds of neads for all kinds of prizes.

Some Marvelous Exhibits at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition

Exhibits in Agricultural Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Show Caterplilar Gaining Favor Over Lug-wheeler Tractors in Farm Machinery.

An observer in the Agriculture Palce at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco cannot help noticing, in the olsplay of agricultural power machinery, the almost complete supersedence of the new design of power tractor, known as the caterpillar, over the cumbersome, unstable, high-wheeled engiae of a few years ago. There are few of the old models oa exhibition, while the caterpillar principle has been applied to almost every type of engine for agricultural purposes.

The eaterpillar proper is a henvy sheet metal chain, varying in width from ten inches to two feet according to the weight of the eagine, which passes around two heavy sprocket wheels like a belt. These wheels revolving, pass the chain about them, the lower part moving backward, with the weight of the engine resting on the broad surface of the chain between the Iwo sprockets.

An eagine of this type can be operated on ground soft enough to mire an ordinary farm wagon.

Duplicate of the Roosevelt African Shotgun.

A duplicate of the shotgun which Col. Theodore Roosevelt took with him on his African trip, a gun constructed expressly for him by an American armorer, is on display at the manufacturer's exhibit in the Manufacturer's Palace at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, The gun cost its illustrious owner $360, and its beautiful design, graceful lines and wonderful injay work would justify the expenditure to any lover of line pieces. The stock is elaborately hand earved, the barrels and lock are hand engraved, and the lock is inlaid with a hunting scene in gold. The barrels are of the finest Krupp steel. Before starting on the trip the ex-president wrote to the makers: "1 really think it is the most beautiful gun i havo ever seen. I am aimost ashamed to take it to Africa and subjeet it to the rough treatment it will ia a group in this Palace are displays by four of the world's greatest manufacturers of sporting arms, which form an exhibit which attracts hundreds of sportsmen. Each display is in charge of a firearms' expert.

Pearl Culture a New Industry. Among the interesting exhibits of the Japanese in the Manufacturers' Palace at the Paanma-Pacific International Exposition is a dealonstration of the methods and results of pearl cultivation in the far East. The displays of this cultivated product, show ing hundreds of pearls which until pearl euiture was placed on a commerelal basis a few years ago would have been the possessions of royalty, will delight any lover of beautiful gems, and the methods of production will prove interesting to any observer. Though pearl culture has beeomo n thriving Industry in Japan, attempts to reproduce it in other parts of the world have yielded but meager

The successful method of propagation was evolved by the Japanese scientist Kokichi Mikimoto, who discovered a species of oyster which produced the pearl on the surface of the shell. Though the finding of the oysters and iaserting the nuclei, then walting for the pearl to grow to a commercial size may seem a simple process, the fact that it has not reduced the price of the gems, even to that of the most expensivo imitations, shows that it is beset with many difficulties.

Daniel Webster's Plow at the Panama
Pacific International Exposition.

One of the most valuable exhibits commercially, in the Agricultural Palace at the Pasama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, is an ancient plow displayed in the Massachusetts exhibit, and forming a striking contrast to the highly-complex modern machinery displayed on the acreage of iloor about it.

The plow owes its distinction to the elrcumstance that a hundred years ago Danlei Webster's youthful hands guided it along the furrows of his father's farm near Marshileld, Mass. It was drawn by n yoko of oxen and if the future peer of Anaeriean orators and statesmen could turn an aere of sod a dny ho had to work from daylight to dark.

Radium Used to Promots Plant Growth.

Some of the remarkable properties of radium are being oemonstrated by an exhibitor in the Liberal Arts building at the Panama-Pacific faternational Exposition, San Francisco, in connection with a new invention making possible the radiofying of water for medicinal purposes.

Demonstrating the power of this mineral promoting inctabolism a number of young plants, some existing with and some without the aid of radium, are shown. Those in the radioactive soils are seen to be growing much more rapidly than those in common soil, and to have a more healthy appearance.

This Inventor has found a process of impregnating terra cotta bricks with radium-bearlag minerals, and these small bricks placed is water are said to give it remarkable curative properties. The porous bricks last almost indefinitely, losing only half their potency, it is estimated, in I,800 years. Since the discovery of this mineral it has been found that many celebrated waters as Carlsbad and Baden iladen, owe their health-glving properties to radium. The investor claims that his process produces in ordinary waters the qualities of these famous springs.

The radium ore used in the manufacture of radioactive terra cotta is known as caractite, a formation found mainly in Colorado and Utah, and now producing three-fourths of the world's radium. The European inheral, known as pitchblende, from which the famous European spriags are impregnated, is also displayed.

Most Rapid Photographs Ever Taken.

The most remarkable set of speed photographs ever taken are a part of the war department's exhibit in Machinery Hall at the Punama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco. They are pictures of a shell from a 12-inch coast defense gun in dight, the set including the various phases of the flight beginning just as the great projectile pokes its noso out of the unizzle of the gun.

The pietures were taken with a lens having an exposuro period of one five-thousandth of a second, this being the fastest shutter ever manufactured. The exposure at the propertime in the flight of the projectile was made by breaking an electric circuit in a wire stretched across the trajectory at the desired point and connecting with the shutter.

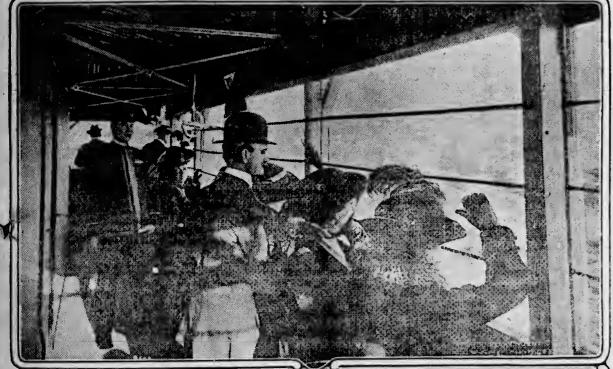

One picture shows the shell halfway out of the muzzle before any smoke and gas has escaped. Another was taken when the shell was two feet from the muzzle but hidden by a heavy ring of smoke. A third shows the shell in tlight a huadred feet from the muzzle. The photographs are so perfect and the exposure so rapid that scareely any binr is perceptible. They were taken at Fortress Monroe, Va., under the direction of Capt F. J. Behl of the coast artillery corps and head of the department of enlisted specialists at the Coast Artillery school at Fortress Monroe.

NATIVE LIFE OF THE FAR PACIFIC.

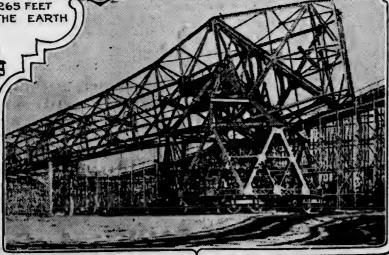

The photograph snows the belle ot the interesting Samoan village at the Paaama-Paelfie International Exposition at San Francisco. The structures ia this village, comprising the native thatched huts of the Samoan, or as they were formerly ealled, the Navigator islands, were brought intaet from the native villages and are absolutely falthful in all their features. There are many active famllies living in the village who for the edification of visitors perform the aquatic feats in which the islanders excel, and dance the rhythmic native dances. The life of the people of the Pacifie oeean is wonderfully Illustrated at the Exposition, and of all the races noae are more interesting than the Samoans who exhibit many traces of Aryan descent. No Exposition visitor should fail to see these unique tribespeopio.

THE WONDERFUL AEROSCOPE, HIGHER THAN THE FERRIS WHEEL, GIVES VISITORS MARVELOUS VIEW OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST EXPOSITION

THE GIANT FRAME OF THE AEROSCOPE AS IT APPEARED UNDER CONSTRUCTION

For the seeker of amusement there is opportunity a-plenty in the unique mechanical achievement, the Aeroscope, on "The Zone," at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The Aeroscope resembles a glant erane of a novel and intricate design, its steel construction recailing that of the Basculo orldge. At the extremity of the long arm of the crane is a two-story car with a seating capacity for 100 persons and standing room for 20 more. At the short end of the crane is a glant mass of concrete, which serves as a counter-balance for the long arm of the crane. Beneath the car are two great water tanks, which take on water or discharge it as passengers enter or leave the car, thus always preserving the balance to a nicety. When, for example, a man weighing 160 pounds enters the ear an amount of water of equal weight is released from the tank, and when the passeager departs 160 pounds of water are automatically discharged into the tank below the ear. The car ascends without perceptible motion, and perfect safety and a jariess ride of ten minutes is assured to passengers while enjoying this trip of 265 feet into the clouds, or four feet higher than the Ferris wheel. Two motors control the ascent and descent in conjunction with the counter-balance of the huge ear, and when it reaches its extreme height it begins to swing slowly around on the wheels at its base, giving a magnificent view of the exposition, of San Francisco bay and of the city of San Francisco.

Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall's Exposition Message to the Nation

The Vice-President of the United States, after spending five days at the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, indited the following message to the people of the nation containing his appreciation of the great fair:

"The steps of my life seem to have been marked by national expositions. My young manhood began with the Centennial, maturity was marked by the Columbian and Louisiana Purchase, and now the sunset years bring me to this marvel of the Republic upon the shores of the sunset seas. So often have I thought I saw the Pillars of Hercules inscribed with their 'ne plus ultra' that I hesitate to say that I have reached them. But they who builded this Panama-Pacific International Exposition were so wise in adopting all the good features and avoiding those which marred the praceding ones, that to me it seems as near perfection as the mind and hand of man have ever wrought.

"Whoever can, even at a sacrifice of something which for the moment appears necessary, should come to see a real work of art never equated, even by a mirage—if there be anyone in America with a thirst for knowledge and for beauty and a longing for a liberat education, such an one can here obtain it

PEOPLE IN WANT OF FOOD.

Robert Crozler Long Makes Extended Tour of Country and Finds Great Devastation and Much Suffering. Telle Exactly What He Has Seen end What People Face.

London.-Robert Crozler Long, anthor and special correspondent, has written an account of his extended tour of the war devastated districts of Poland. In It be says:

"'Finis Poloniae,' Kosciusko'a epitaph on his country, has been realized.

"A tour of central and south Poland and the Polisb parts of Gallela convinces me of that. I visited all the chief towns and many villages, or rulns of villages, in 10,000 squure miles of country lying between the Austro-German lines and the Vistnia in a semicircle from the Bzura to the Nida. I visited also the bash of the Dunajec and Willokn, the theater of the sanguinary May day outbrenk. The country is a desert, the home of nomuds. I got my first glimpse of it on the Bzurn, west of Warsaw, where during a four months' artillery duel every habitation has disappeared.

"I reached this battle front lirst after dusk and from an observation tower saw the remnants were gannt, creet pillars. This is typical of burnt out Poland. A street of frame cottages, often straw thatched, catches fire from the first shell and only ugly rows of brick chluneys are left,

"Isoluted factories all have been destroyed, mostly by alrmen's bombs on the suspicion that they were staff headquarters. Thirty villages either were burned or blown up.

"The governor of Radom assured me that in his province 500 villages had been burned. Refugees assure me that in a circle extending thirty miles Miss Kathryn Igler, of Skillman, re. around Lodz only five villages were "Poland's population is suffering as no Europeans have suffered since the Thirty Yeurs' war. Every second man is a refuge. Warsaw has 60,000 refngees, a third of them Jews. In Radom I found 15,000 refugees, in Kielce 20,-

"A Warsaw rubbl assured me that 100,000 Jews from the towns of Lodz, Plotrkow and Lowicz are without homes. Many refugees still tramp the roads, begging despairingly from people themselves beggars. Many thousands are fiuddled in the tottering fragments of cottages, while 10,000 are shivering in the abandoned trenches and terraced Russian digouts at Skaryszom.

"I met many refugees without food or money and mostly Ill clad. Near Ostrowlee was a dreary procession of men in thick sheepskin coats without other clothing, women in men's trousers and children in dresses improvised | Hardinshurg. from shuwls.

"Such Is Poland's present. The fu-Best Thing for a Billious Attack. ravaged and breelalmable, begins to resemble the primeval Sarmatian waste. Roads, forests and even fields

"The ronds which have been repaired cannot bring food to civilians, for columns. The fields were destroyed by transport und urtillery trains, wblcb, fluding the roads too narrow, spread right and left, obliterating farms.

"Wluter grain was not sown, and there is no seed grain for spring.

"The worst, because it is irremediable, is the forest destruction. Some woods have been hewn wbolesale to make causeways through morasses, some to pave roads, some to make a clear field for artillery, some shelled to and burned. This forest devastation
